

DAN PIEPSZOWSKI

SENIOR DIRECTOR, COMMUNITY LEADERSHIP DEVELOPMENT

Dan Piepszowski is the senior director of community leadership development at the Detroit Regional Chamber and oversees the organization's leadership development and engagement efforts, which includes Leadership Detroit. In this role, he is responsible for recruiting and developing leaders; and developing collaborative efforts that result in innovative solutions to longstanding issues in education, race relations, nonprofit leadership and economic development.

With more than 20 years of experience in community leadership, Piepszowski has worked as a consultant to nonprofit and government entities. He served as a vice president for New Detroit and a department director for the Archdiocese of Detroit. Having shown an unbending commitment to improving race relations in the region, he was recognized as the Detroit Regional Chamber's 2009 diversity champion.

Piepszowski is active on many local and statewide organizations, including the State Commission on Community Action and Economic Opportunity, Mentor Michigan Leadership Council, and United Way Detroit Coordinating Committee. He is a graduate of Leadership Detroit XVII and earned a bachelor's degree and master's degree in public administration from Western Michigan University. Piepszowski and his wife, Suzanne, live in the East English Village neighborhood in Detroit and have five children.
